WRECK STATISTICS FOR 1900.

The statistical summary of vessels totally lost, condemned, &c., now published by Lloyd's Register, shows that, during 1900, the gross reduction in the effective mercantile marine of the world amounted to 848 vessels of 677,182 tons, excluding all vessels of less than 100 tons. Of this total, 296 vessels of 386,304 tons were steamers, and 552 of 290,878 tons were sailing vessels. As regards steamers, the present return exceeds the average of the previous nine years by 16 vessels and 27,554 tons; as regards sailing vessels it is below the average by 274 vessels and 83,968 tons. The figures relating to steam and sailing tonnage owned in the United Kingdom are below the average by 14,000 and 20,000 tons respectively. Apart from vessels broken up, condemned, &c., the United Kingdom steam tonnage lost during 1900 is below the average of the preceding nine years by about 20,000 tons, while the tonnage owned has increased during that period by over 3½ million tons.

The summary exhibits interesting data as to the relative frequency of the different kinds of casualty, &c., which conclude the existence of vessels. Strandings and kindred casualties which are comprised under the term "wrecked," are much the most prolific cause of disaster. To such casualties are attributable 47 per cent. of the losses of steamers and 45 per cent. of the losses of sailing vessels. The next most common termination of a vessel's career is by condemnation, breaking up, &c.; about 17 per cent. of the vessels removed from the merchant fleets of the world are accounted for in this manner. Of the remaining causes of loss, collision is the most general for steamers (about 12 per cent.); while, for sailing vessels, cases of abandonment at sea come next in order of frequency (also about 12 per cent.). Cases of abandoned, foundered, and missing vessels may perhaps be regarded as frequently more or less similar in the circumstances of loss. If these be taken collectively, they comprehend 19 per cent. of the losses of steamers and 28 per cent. of the losses of sailing vessels.

The return has been compiled by Lloyd's Register in such a manner as to enable a comparison to be made between the percentages of loss suffered by each of the principal merchant navies in the world. Great as the absolute annual loss of vessels belonging to the United Kingdom appears to be it is seen to form a very moderate percentage of the mercantile marine of the country, and to compare favourably with the losses sustained by other leading maritime countries. The merchant navies which exceed a total of 1,000,000 tons are those of the United Kingdom, the British Colonies, the United States of America, France, Germany, and Norway. Of these countries, the United Kingdom and the British Colonies show the smallest percentages of loss, viz.: 2·39 and 2·34 per cent., respectively, of the vessels owned; Germany follows with 3·39 per cent.; and Norway is the highest with 6·39 per cent. As regards steamers, while the percentage for the United Kingdom stands at 1·95, the average of the percentages of loss for the other five countries is 2·53. For sailing vessels, the other five countries show an average percentage of 5·09 as compared with 4·01 per cent. for the United Kingdom.

The percentages given at the end of the preceding paragraph suggest that steamers have a much greater immunity from disaster than have sailing vessels. This inference is borne out if the losses, &c., sustained by the chief remaining merchant fleets of Europe be also taken into account. While the losses of steamers amount only to 2 per cent. of the number and 1·8 per cent. of the tonnage owned, the losses of sailing vessels reach 5·1 per cent. of the number and 4·6 per cent. of the tonnage;

STATISTICAL SUMMARY OF VESSELS OF ALL NATIONS, OF 100 TONS AND UPWARDS, TOTALLY LOST, CONDEMNED, &c., DURING THE YEAR 1900.

NOTE:—This Summary is based upon the quarterly returns of total losses, &c., which have been published by Lloyd's Register. It includes, however, vessels which had not been given up as total losses, or of the loss of which information had not been received, when the returns for the quarters in which they respectively occurred were compiled. On the other hand, a few vessels which, being definitely considered as total losses at the respective dates of compilation, were included in the quarterly returns, have since been floated, repaired, &c., and are accordingly now excluded from the statistics given herein. Particulars of all such additions to, and deductions from, the quarterly returns are given on pages 5 to 8.

A distinguishing feature of the Wreck Returns published by Lloyd's Register is that, except as stated in the footnotes to Table No. 1, they are compiled strictly according to the dates at which the casualties resulting in total loss actually occurred, and not according to the dates at which reports of casualties were received.
